CLERK AND MASTER RECORDS (Chancery Court)

GUIDE

Date Span: 1773-2006 and undated
832 linear feet (800 boxes and 452 volumes)

Historical Note

The beginnings of a Chancery Court system in Tennessee start in 1822 as part of the existing Circuit Court system. The state was divided into judicial districts with the First District Chancery Court (that included Washington County) initially held in Rogersville. A judge held court here twice each year.

A new state constitution in 1834 created chancery court districts. The Eastern First District Chancery Court comprised the counties of Carter, Sullivan, and Washington, with court held at Jonesborough. This is the beginning of the county's Chancery Court proper. The judge of the Chancery Court is known as the Chancellor. An 1877 judicial act gave Chancery Court concurrent jurisdiction with Circuit Court in all civil cases except for injuries involving unliquidated damages. Chancery was thereafter often the favored court to file suits as appeals could be made directly to the State Supreme Court.

Until 1891, Chancery Court was only held at the county seat of Jonesborough. A private act passed in 1891 by the Tennessee General Assembly permitted Chancery Court to also be held in Johnson City. This explains why in some instances there are two sets of records for the court (minute books, for example). In 2007, this private act was changed to consolidate all courts to be held only in Jonesborough.

Thomas L. Williams was the first chancellor in 1836. The current chancellor is John Rambo (2013-present).

The position of Clerk and Master records the transactions of Chancery Court and has custody of the records created by that court. On July 1, 2005, state law transferred probate jurisdiction to Chancery Court from County Court and the County Court Clerk's office where it had resided since the county's creation.

The Clerk and Master is appointed by the Chancellor. The following individuals have served as Clerk and Master for Washington County:

Seth J. W. Lucky (1836-1842); J. F. Deaderick (1842-1865); Henry Hoss (1865-1870); B. F. Swingle (1870-1882); A. B. Bowman (1882-1892); W. F. Young (1892-1898); E. A. Shipley (1898-1911); J. W. Cass (1911-1923), who died in office; Earl M. Miller (1923-1948); Oris D. Hyder (1948-1950); Walter E. Saylor (1950-1966); Eddie Simerly (1966-1967); Donald J. Boarman (1967-1974); Dianna Boarman (1974-?); Brenda Sneyd (?-2016); and Sarah Lawson (2016-present).

Note: Some records found in this record group were transferred to East Tennessee State University for preservation in 1958. Beginning in the late 1970s, the Archives of Appalachia there processed some of these records. In Aug 2016, the records were returned to the Washington County Archives. Any boxes or volumes part of this processing at ETSU are cross-referenced in the "Note" column of this guide in case a researcher needs to make a connection to records used when housed at the Archives of Appalachia. This will be indicated in the note field by "A of A" and the specific box or volume number assigned by that archive at the time of processing. Materials may no longer be in the order found at the Archives of Appalachia.

Cases are filed into one of two sub-series. In Sub-series A.1, the cases are arranged alphabetically by the plaintiff's surname. In Sub-series A.2, the cases that were assigned case numbers are arranged in numerical order. Records include correspondence, depositions, decrees, subpoenas, transcripts, and exhibits, among other types. Many historical issues can be studied in these cases, including family history, slavery and emancipation, domestic relations, business affairs, the Civil War, and many other topics. Sub-Group 4.3: Probate Records, 1773-2006 and undated

Subgroup Description

Probate deals with issues involving wills and the settlement of estates. Originally, the Court of Pleas and Quarter Sessions (later known as County Court) had jurisdiction over probate matters. On July 1, 2005, state law changed probate jurisdiction from County Court and the custody of the County Clerk's office to the jurisdiction of Chancery Court and the custody of the Clerk and Master's office. Records were transferred to the Probate Office of the Clerk and Master. This explains why the researcher may find references to County Court and that court's clerk in the pre-2005 records.

Note: For probate records not held in the archives, the researcher should consult the Probate Office at the Justice Center, 108 West Jackson Blvd., in Jonesborough.

77 linear feet (130 boxes and 11 volumes)

Series Description

A will is the legal document by which an individual determines the disposition of their property following their death. To be authenticated and take effect, wills must be filed with and proven in court. The legal procedures followed in doing this is known as probate. In addition to expressing the wishes of individuals regarding the settlement of their estate following their death, a will often includes the names of a spouse, children, or other heirs and descriptions of real and personal property. In this series, wills that have been copied into bound volumes are found into Will Books (sub-series A.1). These are generally in chronological order, and there are indices in each volume. Loose wills (sub-series A.2) are filed in boxes and folders and arranged alphabetically by the surname of the individual whose will it is. Wills are permanent records.

Note: Part of sub-series A.2 is only loosely arranged by alphabet and remains unprocessed at this time.

Series A: Wills is arranged into two sub-series:

Series E: Probate Case Files, 1867-2000
27 linear feet (54 boxes)

Series Description

This series consists of loose court documents related to cases heard in Probate Court for Washington County between 1867 and 1969. The probate judge during this period was the chairman of the County Court, sometimes referred to as the County Judge. Today probate cases are heard by the chancellor in Chancery Court. For researchers, the case files are useful in documenting family relationships, property ownership, disputes, and other matters. The cases involve such issues as contested wills, land sales to pay the debts of the deceased or to divide property among heirs, partitions of land between heirs, insolvencies of estates, dowers, among other issues. The records found in the files include petitions, bills of costs, publication notices of court-ordered land sales, correspondence, court decrees, depositions, copies of deeds and wills, summonses, and property maps and diagrams, among other items. The case files are arranged alphabetically by the plaintiff's surname.
